Logotype specimen — choosing the wordmark for Ağustos

Five candidates rendered next to the Laz Güneşi at three sizes (hero · meeting · header lockup). All in brand red #cf142a, no subtitle, no underline. Decide by eye.

The ğ in "Ağustos" is the load-bearing glyph. Look at how its breve sits — too light and it disappears at small sizes; too heavy and it dominates. Look at the rhythm of the descender on g, the spacing around A, and how the wordmark balances the symbol's visual mass.

Fraunces

Phaedra Charles & Flavia Zimbardi (Undercase Type) · SIL OFL 1.1 — free, self-hostable
Variable: weight 100–900, opsz 9–144, soft 0–100, wonk 0–1

 Ağustos Teknoloji

Verdict: Best overall fit. Distinctive without shouting; warm; pairs with Newsreader; opsz scales beautifully from 16px nav to 200px hero. The ğ is gorgeous.

Instrument Serif

Instrument (design studio) · SIL OFL 1.1 — free, self-hostable
Two styles: Regular & Italic. Static (no variable axes).

Verdict: Pure display elegance. Made specifically for brand marks. Less personality than Fraunces; refined and quiet. Best if you want the symbol to lead.

Bricolage Grotesque

Mathieu Triay · SIL OFL 1.1 — free, self-hostable

Variable: weight 200–800, opsz 12–96, width 75–100

Verdict: Sans counterpoint. Confident, modern, mid-century European. Picks a fight with the editorial body type — could be powerful, or could feel split. Worth seeing.

DM Serif Display

Colophon Foundry · SIL OFL 1.1 — free, self-hostable

Single weight, italic available.

Verdict: Bodoni-style high-contrast. Striking at 100px+, but stiff and dated next to a folk emblem.
Probably too formal for the system.

Verdict: What you have today. Beautiful for body and headlines, but as a logotype it's quiet — doesn't claim ownership. Honest baseline for comparison.
